

THE INSTITUTE FOR HEALTHY FAMILIES OF NORTH TEXAS

"helping achieve small miracles!"

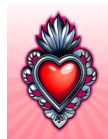

IHF Newsletter, Vol. 1, No. 8

July 15, 2009

The Ten Commandments of Marriage

By Dr. Sandra W. Froese, LPC-S; © 2009

- I. *Thou Shalt Compromise When You Have Differences.
- II. *Thou Shalt Trust and be Faithful to One Another.
- III. *Thou Shalt Listen and Communicate with Each Other.
- IV. *Thou Shalt Love and Be Kind to One Another.
- V. *Thou Shalt Respect Each Other's Feelings.
- VI. *Thou Shalt Be Generous with Money and Attention.
- VII. *Thou Shalt Accept One Another's Extended Family.
- VIII. *Thou Shalt Agree on How to Raise Your Children.
- IX. *Thou Shalt View Each Other as Equals.
- X. *Thou Shalt Support Each Other in Bad Times, Sickness and Poverty; and in the Good Times, Praise God for your Good Fortune.

∞ The Final Commandments of Marriage ∞

Thou Shalt Love Your Partner with All Your Heart, All Your Mind, and All Your Soul; and
Thou Shalt Love Your Partner More Than You Love Yourself.

If you or anyone in your family needs marriage and family counseling or personal counseling to address changes in your life, check out our web site at www.texasicounselors.com. Our rates are affordable.